New Florida Church Memorial to the Late W. R. Hamilton

A letter from one of my sisters in Sarasota, Fla., encloses a tear-sheet from the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune of March 11 reporting that the 70-year-old congregation of the Sarasota First Baptist Church was to dedicate a fine new church house March 12, with prominent mention of the late Rev. W. R. Hamilton as the pastor who brought on the congregation's greatest growth.

The Rev. Mr. Hamilton was pastor of Hope's First Baptist church for many years until his call to the Sarasota church in 1949. He served Sarasota for 16 years until his death in 1965. The present pastor is the Rev. Emmett C. Johnson.

The new church's architect is a friend of my sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Yeager, but, as with many letter-readers, I find I am unable to decipher the architect's name. A telephone call to Sarasota failed to clear up the uncertainty, so I am blanking out the architect's name—following the ancient journalistic principle that it is better not to use a name at all unless you can spell it correctly.

The Rev. Mr. Hamilton was a close friend of mine, partly because he was a fellow photographer. He had a free run of our newspaper darkroom, then situated off the front office. And when I took off for an extended visit with my parents in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., I loaned a building key to the preacher, who was in the midst of developing a lot of photos he had taken on a trip to the Holy Land.

The family farm in the mountains just west of Wilkes-Barre reading a copy of The Star when I was electrified by news of an adventure that befell Hamilton while in our darkroom.

The newspaper account reported that while developing prints under the darkroom's ruby light Hamilton felt something wrap around his ankle and start crawling up his leg. He reached down and came up with a small green snake.

The preacher, a calm person, handled the situation. Had it been me I'd have made a new hole in the darkroom wall.

The newspaper report went on to explain matters by saying that one of our newsboys had a pet snake, brought it into the rear of the building—and lost it. The snake naturally gravitated to the darkest, dampest place in the building, which was 80 feet forward to the front office and its adjacent darkroom.

Fifteen hundred miles distant from the adventure I nevertheless congratulated myself that it befell Hamilton rather than your editor.

Postscript: We never did find out which one of the newsboys brought the snake into the building—a practice the newspaper management frowns on. That being the understatement of the year.

Witness Tells How She Was Shot in Conspiracy Trial

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The first prosecution witness in the murder-kidnap conspiracy trial of Angela Davis has described a courthouse shootout which led to the charges against the black militant.

Maria Elena Graham, a juror who was taken hostage and wounded, recounted Wednesday the minutes that followed the invasion by an armed man of Judge Harold J. Haley's courtroom at the Marin County Civic Center Aug. 7, 1970.

Her testimony came only minutes after Miss Davis, a Communist and former professor of philosophy at UCLA. As part of the defense's opening statement she was totally innocent of complicity.

Her voice trembling, Mrs. Graham said she was shot in the arm as she tried to steady herself on the floor of a van in which she and four other persons were being held hostage.

She also disclosed for the first time that the man who in-

Bumpers Favors Change in Highway Revenue Division

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Wednesday he favored change in the way the state Highway Commission divided revenues for highway construction.

Bumpers hinted that he had some reservations about the Mack-Blackwell amendment, which established the commission as an independent agency.

The governor said he had championed the Mack-Blackwell amendment in 1952 when it was adopted by the people to the state Constitution. He had thought "it was a very fine thing." However, he said he had found that very few states had given their highway departments constitutional immunity.

The governor said nothing is ever completely removed from politics, and he said "some things shouldn't be removed from politics."

Use Sheraton Hotel, ITT Head Says

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.'s financial pledge to San Diego would be dropped if the firm's Sheraton Harbor Island Hotel is not used as Nixon headquarters during the Republican National Convention, according to ITT President Harold S. Geneen.

Geneen said, however, any decision to void the commitment would be made by Howard James, president of the ITT subsidiary, Sheraton Hotels of America, which has three facilities in San Diego.

"I would think it (commitment) would be breached if the Sheraton Hotel is not made the headquarters hotel," Geneen said.

Bolivia Kicks Out Soviet Personnel

LA PAZ (AP) — Bolivia's right-wing military government has ordered 119 Soviet Embassy personnel out of the country after implying the mission was financing leftist rebel movements.

It is the largest such contingent expelled from any country in recent memory. Last September, Britain kicked out 105 Russians after a defecting Soviet agent blew the lid on a spy network.

Foreign Minister Mario Gutierrez said in a nationwide broadcast Wednesday the Russians have seven days to leave the country and that the ouster rectified "a situation capable of disturbing the public tranquility."

He said documents had fallen into his hands which outlined a plan for "foreign intervention in Bolivia," and that one of the papers gave instructions for the "landing of men" Tuesday in

"Obviously, there are some gross inequities in this present system (of dividing revenues)," Bumpers said.

The present system of dividing revenue works this way: The five highway commissioners, each of whom represents two highway districts, divide available revenue from the gasoline tax and licenses and federal funds even among themselves for construction in the districts they represent. The commission gives no consideration to differences in population, traffic, use and the number of vehicles among the districts.

Bumpers said the Highway Commission should give priority to some areas because of their location, population and vehicle counts.

"What I think is the most equitable method of distributing state gasoline funds around the state is to take those areas of high priority and commit the funds for those off the top, just as they have for interstate funds in the past, and then the balance can be distributed in such a way that the rural and poor areas do get their secondary roads built," Bumpers said.

The governor said he was familiar with both sides of the argument on distribution of revenues. He said the commission should pick out critical projects for funding each year based on "traffic counts, the topography and actually human needs as well as economic needs."

Bumpers indicated that he would not favor a highway bond issue. The Highway Commission wants either a $300 million bond issue or a two-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax to finance new highway construction.

operating from a heart ailment in Denver, which he said linked the settlement to a commitment of $400,000 for the convention.

In testimony Wednesday Geneen also said he knew nothing of a telephone call from the White House to ITT's Washington office last spring inquiring about the company's giving $600,000 to Nixon's campaign. During a special session of a Senate subcommittee convened at her hospital bed Sunday, Mrs. Beard testified there was such a telephone call.

In another development, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said an executive session of the committee would be held next Thursday to discuss a Republican motion to end the hearings that technically are being held to consider the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Kleindienst, who already had won committee approval, asked that the hearings be reopened to air Anderson's charges.

Nine inches of snow blanketed Madison, Wis.; 7 inches whitened Rockford, Ill., and 5 to 6 inches was the rule in the Chicago area as a result of the Wednesday storm.

Warmer air southeast of the storm center brought rain and showers from the lower Great Lakes to the Middle Atlantic States.

In the South, a band of thunderstorms cut across central Florida, spawning a tornado 12 miles west of Orlando. There were no damage reports.

Dry and cool weather was the general rule west of the Mississippi. Frost and freeze warnings were out as far south as Oklahoma and extreme southern Missouri.

Record Is Criticized

BEEBE, Ark. (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., a candidate for the U.S. Senate, criticized the voting record of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in a speech Wednesday before the Veterans Club at Arkansas State University's branch here.

"Who preaches economy in government and votes for extravagant wastes of federal money—your money—in the SST," Pryor asked.

"Who preaches government for the average citizen and then votes against a tax decrease

Fulton Plan Approved

Congressman John Paul Hammerschmidt's office informed the Star Thursday that the town of Fulton has received approval of its proposed water treatment and sewage disposal facility.

The approval was contained in a message from Col. Richard L. Hunt, Corps of Engineers, New Orleans. It said the Corps and Environmental Protection Agency has no formal objection and that no Corps permit is required because approval had been granted previously.

"We interpose no objection to the Fulton sewage facility at its planned location." Apparently the only holdup was because the facility crossed the river levee.

The office of Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said the loan is in addition to previous loans totaling $179,200 and a grant of $87,400.

War Claims 4 Americans

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese and enemy casualties rose sharply last week to the highest levels in nine months, the South Vietnamese command reported today. Four Americans were killed in combat and 13 were wounded.

The South Vietnamese death toll, which had fluctuated around 300 per week since July and risen last week to 357, shot up to 445.

Reported North Vietnamese and Viet Cong losses for the week were nearly twice as heavy as the 1972 average, with 1,981 claimed killed.

The increased casualty figures appeared to reflect stepped-up fighting in eastern Cambodia and near the Laotian border in central and northern South Vietnam.

American combat deaths reported by the U.S. Command have averaged 3.3 a week this year.

Eighteen American died from nonhostile causes last week.

The Saigon command reported 1,020 of its men wounded and eight missing.

The allied commands have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,669 killed in action, 203,787 wounded, 10,119 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—134,347 killed in action, 346,634 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—803,256 killed.

Predicts Meat Price Drop in a Few Weeks

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heads of the nation's largest food chains, emerging from a two-hour meeting with top government officials, say the price of meat will be coming down in the next few weeks.

The executives met Wednesday with Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, and members of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers Wednesday. Afterwards, they told newsmen that meat prices will be falling because of market forces rather than government action.

Connally agreed. "We think that over the next 140 days you will see a decline in meat prices," he said.

The secretary also persuaded the 12 food chains to make weekly reports on meat prices to government. Connally said the reports will be made public.

William Mitchell, president of Safeway Stores and spokesman for the food chains, told reporters that "the secretary is indeed a very persuasive person."

But he said that the decline in food prices can be expected because carcass beef prices are dropping and not because Connally called the chains in for private talks. In the next few weeks, Mitchell said, meat prices should go down to the level that prevailed during the price freeze last year.

He said that "meat prices are going down no matter what is said because of competition."

Meanwhile, Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, told a Boston audience that, unless the present inflationary trend is slowed, he will be "just about ready to say we must go back to some sort of price freeze across the board."

Mills, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that time might be reached "in just a few more weeks, the way things are going."

If the freeze on wages, rents and prices is resumed, Mills said, he would want it extended to profits and interest.

Connally left open the possibility that meat packers may be brought in to discuss the wholesale price of meat.

Connally called the executives to Washington after the February Consumer Price Index went up 0.5 per cent, with food prices rising by 1.6 per cent, the highest in 14 years.

Connally said that, as a result of the meeting with grocers Wednesday, he believes food stores will now be more alert to their profit margins and pricing. But he added: "We're not trying to blame anybody. We're not trying to hang anybody or make anybody a scapegoat."

South Vietnam Bases Under Heavy Attack

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces launched a series of coordinated assaults today on eight South Vietnamese bases in the northern quarter of the country, and one of the camps was evacuated by government troops.

In the air war, an enemy surface-to-air missile shot down one of the United States' biggest computerized gunships, the spearhead of the secret electronics war in Laos. All 14 crewmen are missing and feared dead.

Sources said it was too early to tell whether the attacks in the western mountains and foothills of Quang Tri Province, bordering the demilitarized zone and Laos, marked the start of a sustained North Vietnamese offensive.

Sharp fighting also was reported in the central highlands, and sources said all South Vietnamese troops had been placed on a heightened alert after intelligence reports that North Vietnamese troops were planning to launch a three-phased campaign there next month.

Previously predicted offensives in both the northern and central sectors of the country did not materialize earlier this year.

In the northern sector, five fire support bases guarding the DMZ were hit with rockets and mortar rounds shortly after 2 p.m. today.

Simultaneously, ground assaults were made against three other fire support bases guarding the western approaches to the provincial capital of Quang

Tri City. Field reports said that two companies of South Vietnamese marines, about 300 men, abandoned Fire Base Holcomb, some 20 miles west of Quang Tri City, and withdrew to Fire Base Sarge, two miles to the north. A ground assault was also made against Sarge and Fire Base Nui Ba Ho, two miles north of Sarge.

There was no immediate word on casualties in the three ground attacks and shelling attacks against Fire Bases Alpha 2, Charlie 1, Charlie 2, Camp Carroll and Dong Ha, a district

Group Wants Pay for Delay of Flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer action group today accused the nation's major air carriers of failing to provide adequate on-time service and urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to require cash payments to passengers whose flights are delayed.

The penalty payments, proposed in a petition by the Aviation Consumer Action Project, would be equal to the ticket price for canceled flights and $25 for every half hour flights are late taking off or landing.

K.G.J. Pillai, executive director of the Ralph Nader-sponsored group, said his review of airlines' on-time filings with the CAB showed 26 per cent of the flights on the nation's 200 busiest routes were 15 minutes or more late in 1970.

The airlines performed 809,825 flights on those routes in 1970 and cancelled 28,056 of them, said Pillai's petition. He estimated 1.5 million to 2 million passengers were affected by the cancellations alone.

The Air Transport Association, spokesman for the nation's airlines, had no immediate comment.

The petition said that in view of CAB regulations requiring that at least 75 per cent of an airline's flights operate on time—defined as within 15 minutes of the schedule—regulatory action is in order.

The complaint named 11 trunk airlines. "Among the various delinquents, Delta ranks first in violating the law with systematic persistence and perseverance," said the petition.

It accused Delta of violating federal on-time regulations in almost every three-month reporting period for the last three years and identified the most troublesome routes as Atlanta-Miami, Atlanta-New York, Dallas-Los Angeles, Miami-Detroit, New Orleans-New York, Chicago-Miami and Fort Lauderdale-Chicago. The petition singled out Eastern as the second worst. The petition named the Atlanta-Fort Lauderdale, Boston-Miami, Chicago-Miami, Fort Lauderdale-New York, Fort Lauderdale-Newark, Newark-Miami, Philadelphia-Miami and Washington-Newark as the worst of Eastern's routes.

The other airlines with the heaviest level of late flights in 1970, according to the petition, were:

Northwest—37.4 per cent.

Hail Damage $7.3 Million

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Estimates of hail damage in Arkansas Tuesday night were $7.3 million on insured property, the American Insurance Association said here Wednesday.

The amount included $5.2 million in estimated damage to insured fixed property and $2.1 million in estimated damage to motor vehicles, a AIA spokesman said.

The figures cover damage reported at Magnolia, Dover, El Dorado, Russellville, Pottsville, Waldo, McNeil, Taylor and additional portions of Union and Columbia counties, the spokesman said.

Hail ranging from the size of golf balls to the size of baseballs was reported as thunderstorms and tornado winds raked much of the state Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Mann, a member of the board for 15 years and president for the last eight, was succeeded by Bob McGinnis, 40, of Rondo.

Mann said his resignation "hopefully will relieve some of the anxiety" in the deadlock on racial problems in schools and Lee County.

Arctic Air Surge Dips Temperatures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A surge of Arctic air dropped temperatures in northern Arkansas below the freezing mark and left patchy frost in other areas of the state Wednesday night and early today.

The National Weather Service said a large high pressure center over southern Missouri was responsible for the cold air mass that invaded the state late Wednesday.

Light rain was developing this morning over portions of south central and southwest Texas and was expected to increase slowly and spread eastward and northeastward ahead of a low pressure center that was located over extreme western Texas.

The Weather Service said the forecast called for increasing cloudiness in the state today becoming mostly cloudy by tonight as the Texas low moves closer to Arkansas. Scattered light rain is expected in the south portion of the state tonight with clearing to begin Friday. Temperatures were expected to remain quite chilly through Friday.

Highs today were expected to be in the mid 40s in the north to 50s south with lows tonight running from the low 30s in the north to mid 40s south. Highs Friday should be in the mid 40s to low 50s.

Temperatures this morning ranged from the mid 20s in the extreme northwest to the upper 30s and low 40s in the extreme southwest. Thursday's maximum temperatures ranged from 45 at Harrison to 61 at Texarkana.

Overnight lows included 24 at Fayetteville, 29 at Harrison, 30 at Jonesboro, 36 at Pine Bluff, 39 at Texarkana, 38 at El Dorado, 35 at Memphis, 34 at Little Rock, and 30 at Fort Smith.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included a trace at Harrison.

Snow Bunny Wins Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — A 6-foot snow bunny fought City Hall and won—with the aid of two lawyers.

Robert K. Downs and Howard M. Rubin, who share a law office in the downtown area, erected the bunny Wednesday in front of the Picasso sculpture in the Civic Center Plaza after six inches of snow fell on the city.

"It started out as a snowman," Downs said, "but, with the Easter spirit around..."

When two city workers arrived with orders to tear down their creation, Downs and Rubin resisted.

Rubin guarded the sculpture and Downs went to Civic Center manager Elmer Hallberg. "Your bunny doesn't have a permit," Hallberg snapped. Downs moved on to Hallberg's boss, Robert Christensen, executive director of the Chicago Public Buildings Commission.

Christensen, recognizing that a bunny is better than a battle, told Downs his masterpiece could stay.

But Hallberg had the last word: "We'll let nature dissolve the question."

Group Sues to Keep Hippies on Welfare

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An antipoverty law group filed suit against the Department of Agriculture today, charging that a food-stamp regulation aimed at disqualifying hippie communes actually hits hardest at "the poorest of the poor."

The Center on Social Welfare Policy and Law asked federal district court for an injunction to stop states from denying food stamps to households where people who are unrelated are living together.

Ronald Pollack, director of the New York center, said the regulation hits hardest at such people as migrant workers "because they normally have to leave their families and move in with other people," and at "the poorest of the poor, where people can't afford to pay rent and have to move in..."

Pollack filed the suit on behalf of five households in Homestead, Fla.; Oakland, Calif.; Kernersville, N.C.; Salt Lake City, and Columbia, S.C. As an example of the hardship, the suit cited Jacinata Moreno, a 56-year-old diabetic in poor health who moved in with the Ermina Sanchez family in Homestead, Fla.

"Her total monthly income is $75," said Pollack. "She gets that money from welfare. She can't get decent housing for that. She also needs health care, so she moved in with a family."

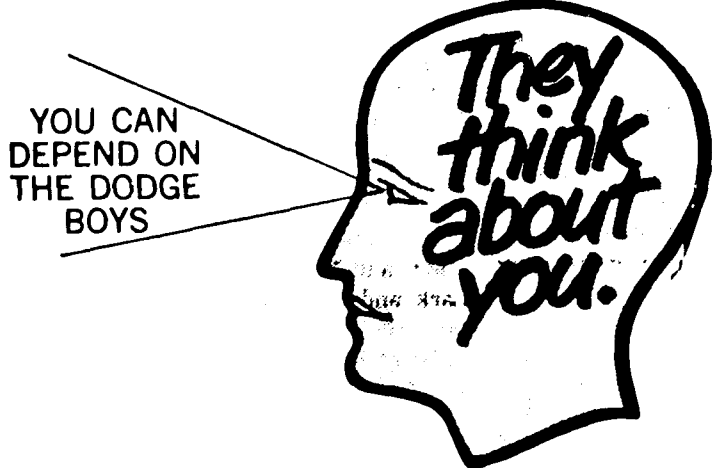

Although her share of the rent, utilities, medical transportation and laundry leaves her only $10 a month for food, hygienic items, clothes, and such, Pollack said, "she was denied food stamps solely because she was living with the Sanchez family."

Pollack estimated that the challenged regulation "harmfully affects close to a million people who are in dire need of assistance."

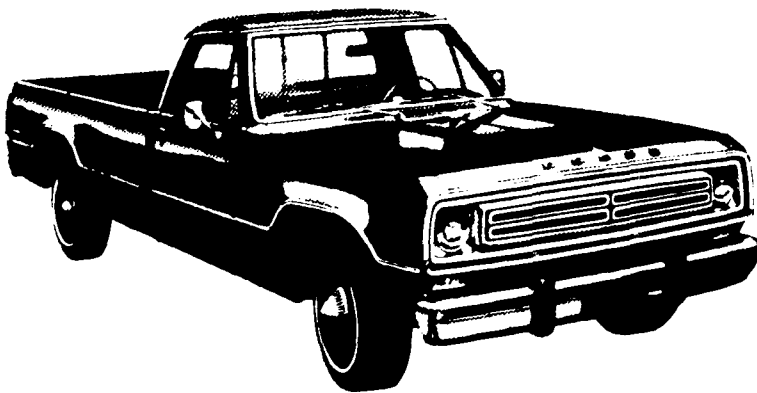

One part of the suit challenges the law itself, which disqualifies unrelated individuals who live together, but not unrelated families, Pollack said. A second part challenges the Agriculture Department's regulations, which also disqualifies families.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

The Games Kids Play

Dear Helen And Sue:
We had a "wedding and divorce" day at school to raise money for a spring dance. It was put on during lunch hour.

Kids "got married" for 50 cents, and there was a "ceremony" and even a license for each one. There was a "divorce" stand too, so if you wanted, you could put your marriage license and divorce paper on your bulletin board. It didn't mean anything except just fun, and we raised enough money to pay for our band. The kids who stayed "married" were supposed to go to the dance together.

My parents saw my license and had a fit. They say I can't go out with this guy (my fake "husband") and that means I wouldn't be able to keep my date for the spring dance.

Can either of you please set them straight? —MARRIED IN NAME ONLY

Dear In Name Only:
Speaking as a parent, I'd say there are better ways to earn money for the spring dance.

When a girl brings home a marriage license, she can expect shock waves: Most elders aren't ready for this kind of fun, and they suspect it might lead to adult "games."

How do you tame the waves? Here's Sue. —HELEN

Dear MINO:
Tell your folks that if a girl has something to hide, she isn't going to pin the "evidence" on her bulletin board. Tell them also:

These "money raising weddings" are quite popular nowadays—and, honest, the kids spend "honeymoons" eating hamburgers at the school cafeteria.

A slip of paper doesn't start anything up that hasn't been going strong already. Good luck in convincing your parents about that! —SUE

Dear RAP:
I am 16 and wonder why people won't let the past be forgotten? I was quite wild last year. I was headed for the slut house and was also becoming a dope addict. But I finally realized what I was doing and am now straight.

At school, people keep asking for stuff because I used to sell it. They get mad and think I'm holding out for more money when I tell them I don't have any.

My parents search my room once a month. They keep bringing up the bad things, too. Every time I go out the door, they're scared.

Guys call up. I know what they want. The nice guys don't call. So I mostly stay home. Straight girls won't take a chance on me either.

People always say the past is behind you, but mine is staring me right in the face. How long? —CANT TAKE MUCH MORE

Dear Can't:
Hang on! It may be tough for the rest of this school year, but by the end of summer vacation, you'll be accepted by classmates for what you have become.

A summer job will help—for you'll meet new people who don't know your past. And your parents could be the best help of all, if they'd knock off the fear and give you the trust you've earned. —HELEN

Dear CTMM:
There's always SOMEONE who will be your friend. If you can make just one person see how much you've changed, he or she will get the word around and help open other doors.

It would be great if you could go away for a while (perhaps visiting relatives or friends in a different town). Getting a new image is easier when "rememberers" aren't around to remind you of the old one.

Maybe other changed teens will write in and offer hints. Okay? Okay. —SUE

FHA Group Attends Little Rock Meet

Climaxing a week of activities to observe National FHA Week, March 19-25, a group representing the Hope Chapter attended the State Convention in Robinson Auditorium in Little Rock Saturday, March 25.

show their interest in child development in the community. The girls contributed money to the Southside Child Development Center to purchase books and toys and to finish plans for an Easter egg hunt for the School of Hope Children to be carried out March 30. Other activities during the week included a Campus Clean-up Day, Colors Day, and Courtesy Day.

Those attending the Meeting in Little Rock from Hope were: Patricia Pree, Kathy Walden, Janice Jones, Lou Ann Hartline, Marilyn Smith, Mary McGinnis, Robin Jones, Jackie Hamilton, Beatrice Flenory, Belinda East, Bonnie Willis, Shirley Benton, Vickie Fellows, and Nancy Palmer. his preaching at the 10 a.m. service Monday. Rev. Vernon Wickliffe is the pastor at Calvary.

Figures Dodgers Have Power to Take Flag

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Frank Robinson make up the difference of one game that left the Los Angeles Dodgers second best to the San Francisco Giants in the National League's West Division pennant chase?

You'd better believe he can. The Dodgers, who came so very close to catching the fading Giants in the final days of the 1971 season, figure they have the horses to overtake San Francisco this time out. And what's more, some other clubs may pass the Giants too.

LA did some prudent winter shopping, prying Robinson and reliever Pete Richert away from Baltimore for four young prospects. Football Coach George Allen said "The future is now," and the Dodgers obviously believe it.

The Dodgers also came up with Tommy John, a quality left-hander, to add to their pitching rotation. Pitching has always been LA's strong suit and John joins a staff headed by Al Downing, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and Bill Singer.

With Robinson, Willie Davis and Wes Parker to head the offense, the Dodgers seem solid. Certainly one game better than they were a year ago.

In the East, Pittsburgh's biggest problem seems to be the old rule about only being allowed to play nine guys at a time. They have too many good ones to limit themselves to nine.

The Pirates won the world championship last year with a team that doesn't seem to have any weaknesses. And new manager Bill Virdon has a fistfull of talented youngsters to add to the cast.

Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente, Bob Robertson and Richie Hebner produce the Pirate runs with plenty of pitching available from Series hero Steve Blass, Nellie Briles, Dock Ellis and others.

Pittsburgh sat out infielder Rennie Stennett for the Series and this young man only batted .353 in 50 games. Then there is rookie outfielder Richie Zisk, who was the training camp standout after a .290 season in the International League last year. But where do you fit them in this championship club?

Behind the Dodgers in the West, Houston seems strongest with several new faces to juice up the attack. San Francisco, a year older, may be due to slip some, perhaps to third. Cincinnati's Big Red Machine still has some kinks to work out while Atlanta and San Diego don't seem likely to cause more than a few ripples.

Joe Torre will have to go some to match his batting championship .363 season for

Sudden Sam Gives the Giants Hope

By The Associated Press
Sudden Sam McDowell says he is in his best shape in four years. That means the San Francisco Giants may win the National League pennant for the first time in a decade.

The 29-year-old star southpaw, traded to the Giants by the Cleveland Indians, yielded only five hits in the eight innings he pitched Wednesday against the Chicago Cubs in exhibition baseball.

"Really, I'm in good shape, the best in three or four years," McDowell said after he had received credit for an 8-6 victory. "I could have pitched an extra two or three innings."

Ken Henderson, who has taken over the No. 3 batting slot from Willie Mays, had four RBIs on a home run and a three-run double.

With the opening of the season only six days away on April 6, there were reports that the Dodgers had modified their pennant demands and eased the threat of a strike.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn expressed optimism that a strike would be avoided.

One thing I'm happy about in the midst of this difficulty is that the clubs and the players have been meeting regularly to see if they can find a solution," Kuhn said.

In another off-field development, big Frank Howard reportedly signed with the Texas Rangers for the same salary he received last year, an estimated $120,000. The slugging first baseman outfielder said

St. Louis but he'll do enough to keep the Cardinals in contention.

The revamped Cubs should edge out New York's light-hitting Mets for third place with Montreal and Philadelphia bringing up the rear.

Houston may very well be the most improved team in baseball this season. And the Astros could overtake the Dodgers if the summer heat wears down Robinson, who'll be 37 in August.

Consider, for example, that of the top four earned run averages in the National League last season, three now work for the Astros. Houston already had No. 3 Don Wilson and No. 4 Ken Forsch. Then they came up with No. 2 Dave Roberts from San Diego in a winter swap.

Roberts' 2.10 ERA was second only to Tom Seaver of the Mets last year and he is considered one of the best young arms in baseball.

The Astros also made an eight-player swap with Cincinnati which brings slugger Lee May and second baseman Tommy Helms to Houston. May's 39 homers last year gives the Astros a power man to go with Jimmy Wynn.

San Francisco came up with Sudden Sam McDowell in a winter deal with Cleveland but it cost them Gaylord Perry. That means they're still a little thin in pitching and that deficiency should shove them down the West ladder.

Age could start creeping up on the Giants too. Ace pitcher Juan Marichal is 33. Injury-prone Willie McCovey is 34 and, of course, Willie Mays will be celebrating his 41st birthday on May 6.

Mamma Max Serves Notice in Diving

By DENNIE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Air Force Capt. Micki King, the 27-year-old veteran America's younger diving darlings call "Mamma Max" because of her age, served notice Wednesday night at the 1972 National AAU Indoor Diving Championship that she is rounding into Olympic form.

Miss King, who suffered the heartbreak of a fourth place finish in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City when she broke her arm in the three-meter diving, overcame two of her younger rivals Wednesday night to capture the one-meter title—her first since 1967.

All total, Miss King, who budgets non-appropriated funds for the Air Force in Los Ange-

Bobby Bonds and Ken Henderson give the Giants two highly capable outfielders, offensively and defensively, but the picture seems bleak unless San Francisco can find a fountain of youth and some more pitchers.

Cincinnati has decided to switch images, foregoing sock for speed. That's why the Reds are depending on a big one by All Star catcher Johnny Bench, who slipped badly last year. Peppery Pete Rose and Rony Perez, switching from third base to first this year, head the offense with Bench.

The Reds are somewhat thin on infielders with Woody Woodward retired, and the pitching is questionable with much riding on recoveries by Wayne Simpson and Jim Merritt, who suffered through nightmarish seasons in 1971.

Hank Aaron starts his final countdown on the road toward Babe Ruth's home run record and that should add zest to what could become an otherwise bleak season for the Braves.

Ralph Garr's speed and the power potential of rookie of the year Earl Williams and Darrell Evans give Atlanta some promise but the pitching doesn't seem solid enough after knuckler Phil Niekro.

San Diego has a quality pitcher in Clay Kirby and a quality hitter in Nate Colbert, but not enough quality in the other positions to make any kind of a dent.

les when she is not diving, has now won nine AAU titles in her 17-year career.

"You might say I am a late-bloomer," said Miss King. "The girls are doing dives at 15 that I did not try until I was 20."

Miss King came from behind to unseat defending champion 21-year-old Cynthia Potter of Houston, who was first after the preliminary round.

The one-meter event is not on the schedule for the summer Olympics this August in Munich, Germany, but Miss King said it is an advantage for Americans to compete in the event.

"The Europeans do not do it (the one-meter dive) and I think it gives our divers an edge," said Miss King.

"It is a great warmup event and helps us get ready for the three-meter and platform dives."

Lt. Phil Boggs of Colorado Springs, Colo., made it a sweep for the Air Force Wednesday night with a victory in the men's three-meter diving. It was his first AAU title.

Don Dunnfield of the Santa Clara, Calif., Swimming Club was second and veteran Jimmy Henry of Dallas was third.

The top 12 finishers in the men's three-meter diving qualify for the Olympics trial this August in Chicago.

In events today, the women take over the three-meter board where Miss King is defending champion, and the men go to the one-meter board where Craig Lincoln of the University of Minnesota is the defending titlist.

Celtics Stampede Hawks

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — "It's been a long time coming," Coach Tommy Heinsohn said after the Boston Celtics returned to the National Basketball Association's playoffs for the first time in three years Wednesday night. They did it in true Celtics fashion, calling on a team effort in racehorse style to stampede the Atlanta Hawks, 126-108.

"That's what we've been looking for," Heinsohn said of the Celtics performance in the opener of the NBA first round best-of-seven eastern conference playoffs.

To be sure, it was only an opener and only one victory, but it was a first step and it was taken in the fashion so common here only a few years ago when players Heinsohn, Bill Russell and Bob Cousy directed the Celtics to 11 titles in 13 years.

They accomplished the victory mostly with their patented fast break, spurring in each of the last three quarters to first overtake the fast-starting Hawks and then clinch the 1-0 playoff advantage.

In Western Conference playoff action, the Los Angeles Lakers seek to extend their 1-0 lead at home tonight against the Chicago Bulls, while the Milwaukee Bucks, down 0-1 to the Golden State Warriors following an upset Tuesday, try to tie up their best-of-seven series at Milwaukee.

Rupp Won't Make Race

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Coach won't make the race.

Adolph Rupp is destined to be remembered as one of the most successful basketball coaches in history—not as a U.S. Congressman.

The University of Kentucky coach failed to file for a congressional seat by the deadline, midnight Wednesday.

"After meeting with my family...they all hoped I would not run for Congress, and urged me not to," the 70-year-old Rupp said. "I will abide by their wishes."

On Sunday Rupp said if he couldn't continue as UK basketball coach, a position he has held for the last 42 years, he would run for Congress.

The university's Athletic Association Board announced its final decision Monday on Rupp's retirement. Following an eight-year-old university regulation which makes retirement mandatory at age 70, the board announced Rupp's coaching career would end June 30.

Rupp was asked Monday if he still planned to run for a seat in Congress. He replied: "You bet your life I'm going to. 'I've won 83 per cent of everything I've gotten into. I'm the only one in this race (for Kentucky's 6th District seat) that knows anything about agriculture, and we've got an agricultural district."

There were reports from Lexington Wednesday morning that Rupp had his filing papers in hand. Candidates were required to file in the secretary of state's office at Frankfort.

Out to Defend Title

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — He's freckled and looks frail. He's got a shy, boyish smile and a mop of auburn hair and, while perhaps a face in the crowd to the rest of the country, he's an authentic hero in Greensboro.

Bud Allin, who could play the part of the drugstore delivery boy, belies his appearance.

The former artillery officer who won four decorations in Vietnam is a serious, sober-minded 27-year-old who takes a no-nonsense approach to his business—pro golf.

"Realistically, I don't expect to win again," Allin said today before setting out in defense of his title in the first round of the $200,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"First of all, I'm not really playing that well right now. And, second, how often is it that a player successfully defends? Not often."

Still, the skinny, 135-pounder was one of the gallery favorites in an extremely strong field—including Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Gary Player—arrayed for this 72 hole chase that ends Sunday on the 7,034 yard, par 71 Sedgfield Country Club course.

Allin, then a rookie, won the hearts of the huge Greensboro galleries when he rallied from an opening 75 and eventually rolled in a 30 foot birdie putt for a playoff victory last season.

He's one of the most popular players in the field. He's pressed for autographs and greeted with calls of "There's Bud Allin," when he appears on the course.

"It's nice, of course, and I enjoy it," he said, but wondered aloud if his victory last year might not have hurt him.

"In my case, people are thinking mine was a kind of a fluke. I don't feel I know everything there is to know, but I do think I can win again."

Allin, however, has been in a slump—he's missed the cut in three of four tournaments—since finishing fourth in the rich Jackie Gleason earlier this year. He has about $17,000 in winnings.

"I'm not playing that well right now, but my attitude is good. It'll come," he said.

13 in Governor's Race Only Couple Years Ago

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer

Less than two years ago, 13 men filed for the office of Arkansas' governor. Their hopes were high, their spirits undaunted and their words often quoted.

Like beauty queen contestants they paraded their attributes before the voters. All that is left are weathered banners and bumper stickers, faded and peeling.

Where have these men been the past two years, some who rose from obscurity and then rallied a group of supporters and fought a quixotic battle?

Obviously the victory, Gov. Dale Bumpers, is in the palace. Two, W. S. Cheek of West Memphis and James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell, are dead, victims of apparent heart attacks. Two others returned to their farms and three have continued in the law practice they had before the election.

Another, Lester Gibbs of North Little Rock, announced last week that he again intended to run for governor.

In the last election, Gibbs ran unsuccessfully as a Republican and he said at that time he did not expect to win, only to aid in the defeat of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

This time, however, he says he intends to win, even if he has not yet decided on which ticket he will run.

"I don't know for sure that the Arkansas taxpayers are ready for an honest governor, but if they are, I'm considering presenting myself again for their approval," said Gibbs, who for years was the band leader of Les Gibbs and the Arkansasers.

Bill Wells, who was unsuccessful for the Democratic nomination, went back to school and took 18 hours of political sciences.

"After the last election, I felt it might be beneficial if I ever tried to run again," Wells said of his return to school at the University of Arkansas at Monticello.

He said the success of Lt. Gov. Bob Riley, a political science professor at Ouachita Baptist University, starting him thinking that course in political science might help.

Wells says he has not definitely decided against running again this year. He said he might show up at the Secretary of State's office on one of the last filing dates.

Wells, who has been running his insurance agency and selling wholesale sporting goods to retailers said friends have been encouraging him to run either for governor or for 4th District Congressman.

Former Gov. Orval Faubus, who fought unsuccessfully for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, has written a book entitled "In This Faraway Land," about his experiences in World War II.

The book has been released and Faubus says he is now working on a second book at his home in Huntville. This book will be about the 12 years he was in the governor's office.

When asked about the present administration he chuckled and answered: "No comment."

Another former governor, Rockefeller, who was defeated by Bumpers, has spent the past months pursuing his interests, which include his Winrock Farm near Morrilton and national Republican affairs.

His son, Win Jr., married last March and he and his bride moved back to the farm. His own wife, Jeannette, divorced him shortly after the election.

Rockefeller, a multi-millionaire, recently spent three weeks in Europe and Africa, according to a spokesman, "investigating the cattle market."

He is also the chairman of the committee of the Republican National Committee investigating the role former governors can play in Republican affairs.

Former Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell became the state Democratic chairman after he lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Since there is no salary involved as the head of the committee, Purcell says he has been spending 90 per cent of his time in Benton in his law firm.

Manhunt in Oklahoma Berrigan Case Heads to Jury

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Police gunfire and searchlights ended the sixth escape of James Kenneth Johnson early this morning in a wooded area near this southern Oklahoma city.

The capture of the convicted bank robber and escape artist climaxed a manhunt that ultimately involved almost one hundred officers in Texas and Oklahoma, police dogs and a Dallas police helicopter.

Johnson, who escaped eight days ago from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., a federal prison hospital, was gravely injured by a shotgun blast at the end of the hunt.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported he was in extremely critical condition in an Ardmore hospital where he is under heavy guard despite his semi-conscious condition and severe wound.

The manhunt began after Dallas police began looking for him Wednesday, they said, after he fled the scene of a smash-up driving a car stolen in Durant, Okla., on Sunday.

At the height of the Dallas rush hour, Patrol Sgt. Claude W. Standridge, 43, stopped the battered car, unaware that it was stolen. As he approached he was shot three times.

The officer was also in critical condition in a Dallas hospital.

Police said Johnson fled to a parking lot not far from the scene of the shooting, abducted Lloyd Ross, a Dallas businessman and forced him to drive to Oklahoma.

"He told me he had shot a policeman and that if I did anything he didn't like he'd kill me too," Ross said. "I can tell you I was frightened."

When the car stopped in Marletta for gas, Ross escaped and called authorities. Johnson sped northward.

Mistrial Is Declared

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A mistrial was declared Wednesday by Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby of Little Rock in the first-degree murder trial of Robert E. Baggett.

This was the second mistrial for Baggett on the charge stemming from the 1970 death of June B. Shillcutt, a Little Rock druggist.

Kirby said he believed some jurors might have gotten the impression that charges other than the murder count were at issue in the trial.

He acted after Pros Atty. James Guy Tucker Jr. and defense attorney James R. Howard argued about charges that had been filed against Charles Anthony.

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Harrisburg seven conspiracy case, ringing with charges that the prosecution "twisted and tortured" its evidence in an effort to prove an alleged plot to kidnap White House aide Henry A. Kissinger, headed for the jury today.

Deliberations on the fate of the Rev. Philip Berrigan and six other militant antiwar activists were to begin following U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman's charge to the jury of nine women and three men.

"This is the first case I have represented in which the government of the United States tried to prove a crime by dramatic readings rather than evidence," chief defense lawyer, Ramsey Clark, a former U.S. attorney general, charged Wednesday in wrapping up his final argument.

Opposing lawyers agreed the case rested on the testimony of paid FBI informer Boyd Douglas Jr., the government's chief witness, and a pile of letters, most of them between the imprisoned priest and Sister Elizabeth McAlister.

While the defense argued the prosecution's case added up to zero, the government insisted it had proved an ongoing conspiracy to kidnap Kissinger, to bomb government property, and to destroy draft files.

"The case is built on Boyd Douglas and the letters," Clark said.

"Pure and simple, Boyd Douglas and the letters—a man you can't believe and letters that don't say what the government tried to twist and torture them into saying."

But chief prosecutor William Lynch, in a 90-minute rebuttal, said "Words are the trigger of action, and that is what these letters are about."

Berrigan, 48, is serving a six-year term for destroying draft records in Maryland. He and his codefendants are charged with conspiring in 1970 to kidnap Kissinger, to blow up government heating tunnels in Washington and vandalize Selective Service offices.

Douglas and Berrigan met in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where the government alleges the "revolutionary priest" masterminded the conspiracy.

Douglas, serving time on a bad check conviction, was a convict on study-release and able to attend daytime classes at nearby Bucknell University. He has testified that Berrigan recruited him to smuggle letters in and out of prison, and that he turned informer for the FBI after he was caught.

Inflation Is Big Worry

MOUNTAINBURG, Ark. (AP) — Congressional candidate Guy W. Hatfield of Rogers said Wednesday he had learned people are more worried about inflation than any other problem.

Hatfield, 65, a former stage and screen actor, has filed as a Democrat for the May 30 primary. He seeks the 3rd District post held by Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., who has filed for re-election.

Hatfield said he learned this during his 60-mile walk from Rogers to Mountainburg. He left Rogers Friday, intending to walk to Fort Worth. He said State Police asked him to stop walking because he was creating a traffic hazard.

"I found out many things you can't find out any other way," Hatfield said of his walk. "The trip was very encouraging and enlightening."

Hatfield said he walked six to eight hours a day during the trip.

Bumpers Urged to Accept Grant

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — Joan Baez, the folksinger, ended an unannounced visit to Lee County by urging Gov. Dale Bumpers to approve an Office of Economic Opportunity grant for the Lee County Cooperative Clinic, a clinic spokesman said Wednesday.

A $1.2 million grant has been approved by the OEO in Washington for the clinic, which was established to provide medical care to the poor in the county, but Bumpers has not yet signed papers that would clear the grant for use by the clinic, officials said.

The spokesman at the clinic said Miss Baez wrote a letter to Bumpers after visiting with families who are patients of the clinic. Some whites in the county have said the clinic is the source of racial unrest that has developed in the county since last June.

The spokesman quoted these portions of the letter from Miss Baez to Bumpers:

"As you know, Mr. Governor, some folks in this world have plenty. Some have next to nothing. The folks who file into the Lee County Cooperative Clinic have about nothing. Some 50 to 60 come here each day.

"They have been running this little clinic with willpower, determination, love, good personnel, a few grants which have run out, and all the money the poor can drum up from anywhere. Right now, there is a campaign on for each family, even if it consists of only one person, to give $10. Neither you nor I can comprehend what that means to people who live in poverty. In my opinion, the people who attend and make up the clinic, working through the clinic board, if given the pending OEO grant, could continue working to build up and operate a fine clinic.

"If the grant is held back, it would seem that one more time in a crucial age, America refuses to help her own poor to even help themselves."

The letter said Miss Baez was confident Bumpers would sign the grant and "will in that way help a small bit in the eternal struggle to try and create a decent world."

Liberation

'Rabbit'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Rabbit liberation" took over a downtown hotel and started a new kind of Easter hunt.

A dozen bunnies were released from a holiday display in the hotel Wednesday and hopped merrily through the halls while employees scoured the building rounding them up.

A note by their cage, apparently from the person who freed them, read: "Rabbit Liberation of America." It was signed "Bugs Bunny."

D'Artagnan, the best swordsman and bridge player in France, decided that while it was the duty of a musketeer to protect the king, this was one time that a lead of a king was called for. He placed the king of hearts on the table.

Porthos, sitting East, played the nine and D'Artagnan continued the suit. Porthos cashed the jack and ace.

The wily De Rochefort, sitting South, false-carded with the 10 and it was up to D'Artagnan to discard. He knew that Porthos would follow the instructions conveyed by his discard. What should he tell Porthos to do? It all depended on who held the seven of hearts.

Could Porthos hold it? Very unlikely for two reasons. If Porthos held five hearts to the ace-queen-jack he would surely have overcalled and even if he hadn't overcalled he would have overtaken D'Artagnan's king with the ace if he held five hearts.

After working this all out carefully it was no trouble for D'Artagnan to drop the diamond deuce. Porthos led his last high heart and since De Rochefort had to ruff with one of dummy's high trumps the contract was doomed. "Sacre Bleu!" cried De Rochefort. "From now on I will stick to duelling against you. You are far too good at bridge."

Public Pays Dearly for Desire of Congressman

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to pay $69,500 a month to have one of the world's fastest trains running half-speed, nearly empty, through the home district of a powerful congressman?

You're doing it.

Does it seem logical to test a train designed to whisk passengers between metropolitan centers at 170 m.p.h. by pushing it over mountains at 15 m.p.h.?

Or to spend another $40,000 advertising the scenic beauties of the route, which the train crosses at night?

Amtrak and the Department of Transportation think so, and so does Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which passes on all bills authorizing funds for Amtrak and the Transportation Department.

And that's why one of the only two Turbo Trains in the United States labored over the West Virginia mountains for eight hours one recent night to deposit three passengers in Parkersburg, W.Va.

It was a typical run. The Turbo Train, capacity 144, pulled out of Washington, D.C., half full at 5:45 p.m., dropping passengers at four commuter stations along the way. By the time it reached the first West Virginia stop, Martinsburg, at 7:04 p.m., only a dozen riders remained.

The next day, leaving Parkersburg at 4 a.m., four passengers boarded. The Turbo Train brought 26 riders into Washington just before noon.

Until last fall this Turbo was one of two speeding full passenger loads between Boston and New York in less than four hours.

The rail passenger office of the New England Governors' Conference wanted to expand the service from nine round trips a week to four round trips daily, making the Turbos a natural extension of the Metroliner between Washington and New York.

Then Amtrak appeared before Staggers' committee to request $170 million. And, the Department of Transportation showed up to ask the committee for $315 million plus an extension of its program to develop high speed ground transportation.

On Feb. 7 the Turbo Train inaugurated service to West Virginia, including Staggers' hometown of Keyser, population 6,586.

Fifteen days later Staggers' committee reported favorably on $170 million request; two days after that it approved the Department of Transportation bill.

Amtrak's explanation is that it wanted to see if good service, modern equipment and heavy advertising could lure passengers back to one of the three most poorly patronized routes in the nation. It claims patronage has doubled over the old service.

Wife-Swapping Ring Revealed in Trial

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — After putting into court records a report that a wife-swapping ring existed at Cecil Field Naval Air Station, attorneys for Chaplain Andrew F. Jensen have rested their case in his court-martial on a charge of misconduct by adultery.

Final prosecution rebuttal testimony is scheduled today. The jury of six officers is expected to begin deliberating the case late today or early Friday.

The Navy commander faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and dishonorable discharge.

Jensen, 43, wasn't allowed on Wednesday to testify to reports of wife-swapping which included Lora Gudbranson, 40, one of two Navy officer wives who accused him of adulterous relations. The other is Mary Ann Curran, 24.

The chaplain denied each of 21 love trysts alleged by the two women.

When Jensen started to unfold a report of wife-swapping, prosecutor Ralph B. Levy objected.

"A report from whom?" queried the military judge, Capt. Ben N. Cole of Charleston, S.C. "This is the confidential nature of it," defense attorney Jack R. Blackmon of Corpus Christi, Tex., replied. "We are not offering it for the truth of it. We are offering it to show motive."

The judge refused to allow the oral testimony but accepted the statement in the trial record for appeal purposes.

Newsman were permitted to copy the document labeled "offer of proof" but were advised by the judge not to give it to much credence.

It said Jensen would have testified, if allowed, "that in confidential counseling sessions with various individuals, he received information to the effect that Lora Gudbranson and others at Cecil Field were involved in a wife-swapping or 'swingers' group."

Boyle Case Up to Jury

By VERNON A. GUIDRY Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A jury begins deliberating the fate of United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle and two other UMW officials today in the first federal prosecution of union officers for illegal campaign contributions.

The two-week-old trial went to the jury late Wednesday, but U.S. Dist. Court Judge Charles R. Richey delayed the start of deliberations until this morning.

Boyle, union Secretary-Treasurer John Owens, and James Kmetz, head of Labor's Non-Partisan League, legislative arm of the union, were indicted last year for conspiracy and participation in some or all of 11 campaign contributions totaling $49,250 made from 1966 through 1969.

"It's a 'get W.A. Boyle' indictment (to) destroy him as a man and as leader of the United Mine Workers," protested Arthur J. Hilland, Boyle's attorney, in the closing arguments which consumed most of Wednesday's day in court.

Hilland contended the government failed to prove that Boyle misused the money. Boyle said his actions were legal.

The attorney pictured the 76-year-old labor leader as a miner from the coal fields of Montana who worked his way up to his present position. "He's a good man, a compassionate man, a man who has realized the American dream," Hilland said.

But chief government prosecutor Charles Ruff tried to put Boyle at the core of a conspiracy to use union funds for contributions to campaigns in federal elections.

"All three of these defendants and two co-conspirators participated in a common scheme devoted to common ends," Ruff said.

Boyle was charged with conspiracy, taking part in 11 contributions, and with converting $5,000 in union funds to the use of others.

The money was lent by the union to the league on Boyle's authorization and was later channeled into a political contribution, the government alleges.

Kmetz was named in the conspiracy count, in two of the counts dealing with specific contributions, and with aiding and abetting Boyle in converting the $5,000.

Owens was named in the conspiracy count and in connection with one of the specific contributions.

Cotton Exports Held Down

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Tighter supplies and higher market prices are helping hold down cotton exports this year, the Agriculture Department says.

Market prices for most qualities of upland cotton are nearly 10 cents a pound more than a year ago, officials said in a "cotton situation" report. Also, reserves are down to the lowest level in 20 years.

"Shipments exports will likely slip during the latter months of this season after registering healthy gains early in the year," the report said.

For all of the 1971-72 marketing year, cotton exports may total slightly more than three million bales, down 750,000 from last year, the report said.

Farmers have indicated they will plant 10 per cent more cotton this year, which could be enough to handle total use in 1972-73 and add some to the carryover reserve, officials said.

Unwed Mothers Back in School

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Have Your Snow And Eat It, Too!

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — How germ-laden is new fallen snow? My mother told me that a doctor told her and other mothers that new snow that lies overnight is full of germs. Are children who eat this stuff apt to become ill? For the sake of the kids and their health, tell us the truth. I have several grandchildren who are snow eaters.

Dear Reader—There is probably not a single answer to your question. There are a lot of variables. If it is a nice, good, deep snow you could brush the top back safely and eat the snow that is immediately underneath the crust. The closer the snow gets to the surface of the ground the more likely it is going to be contaminated with all the different germs that cover the earth. Germs do not propagate in frozen material. They like warm, moist climates and the ground surface comes closer to meeting these requirements. They are not likely to migrate upward into fairly deep snow, so the trick is in finding a place where there has been a good deep, rapid snow fall that is fresh. If you have had several snow falls at different intervals there will be different layers of crusts and this snow could be contaminated.

If one is careful and uses fresh fallen snow and scoops away the top, the underlying snow can be used. Many people even use it to make snow ice cream. I have never known of anyone getting ill from this practice.

Explosion, Death in Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST (AP) — A giant explosion wrecked a main street in Belfast, killing a British army officer, and bombers tried to assassinate a Protestant leader in the Roman Catholic civil rights movement today as London formalized its takeover of Northern Ireland.

The British House of Commons voted 191 to 13 to endorse the peace plan of Prime Minister Edward Heath. The measure giving the British government complete control over the embattled province was passed by the House of Lords an hour later and then given approval by Queen Elizabeth II to become law.

As the violence flared in Northern Ireland, the British Defense Ministry announced it would send 600 more troops to the province to help restore order, bringing the number of soldiers in Ulster to 15,100.

The blasts in Belfast were the third and fourth to shake Northern Ireland within hours.

The explosion on Wellington Street, 100 yards from City Hall, went off in a car and tore a huge section of the thoroughfare. It sent parts of the car soaring over four-story buildings into nearby streets and hurled the officer, a bomb disposal expert, against a wall. Maj. Bernard Calladene, 39, died in a hospital. He was the 292nd person killed in 32 months and the 56th British soldier to die in the Ulster troubles.

Police said the car was stolen in the Lower Falls area of Belfast, a stronghold of the Irish Republican Army, and blamed the IRA for the blast.

In Londonderry, guerrilla bombers tried to assassinate Ivan Cooper, a Protestant member of Northern Ireland's now-defunct parliament and a leading figure in the Roman Catholic civil rights movement.

Police said a bomb blew up Cooper's car outside his home minutes after he received a phone call telling him he was urgently needed at a hospital.

Earlier in the evening, a 150-pound gelignite charge exploded in a truck in downtown Belfast, demolishing the vehicle and blowing out windows for hundreds of yards, and three

'Good News' Man Dies at Age 82

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Gabriel Heatter, who kept wartime audiences turned to their radios with "there's good news tonight," died today at the age of 82 at the Miami Heart Institute following a five-year illness.

Heatter, whose deep baritone brought the London blitz and the Pacific jungle into American living rooms, died of pneumonia, said son-in-law Ralph Daniels.

The pioneer newscaster retired from his national nightly broadcasts on the Mutual network in 1961. His last broadcast, over a Miami radio station, was May 23, 1965.

Heatter suffered a stroke that partially paralyzed his right side five years ago.

The broadcaster called Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt his friends, and when birthdays rolled around during his later years, often borrowed the British prime minister's birthday quote for his own: "In view of the alternatives, it feels pretty good."

The newscaster used to open every broadcast during the dark days of World War II with "Ah, yes, there's good news tonight," and the news of lost battles and death counts was always saved until later.

HHH Claims Good Tax Reform Performance

By GERRY NELSON
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says he has outperformed his rivals in the tax-reform question, a leading issue in the Wisconsin presidential primary campaign. "I'm pleased to see that now, at last, Hubert Humphrey is going to have some help fighting against the big boys for a fair tax system," the Minnesota senator told about 150 union leaders in Racine Wednesday night. "For 20 years it's been a pretty battle in the Senate, standing up for fair taxes. I didn't just pick it up in Wisconsin because property taxes are a hot issue," he said. Humphrey used the theme repeatedly Wednesday as he and other Democratic presidential contenders slogged through an early-spring snowstorm in quest of votes in next Tuesday's primary. Tax reform is the No. 1 issue with Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine hammering at it the hardest. The snowstorm snarled campaign plans for most candidates, but they quickly improvised other appearances, many of them in the Milwaukee area. Muskie defended the labor walkout from the Pay Board in ing off corporations with wages of Americans." McGovern bought a pair of boots for two plant-gate appearances, then swapped snowballs with his Secret Service guards. Pierre Salinger, campaigning for McGovern, said the South Dakotan has a chance to win the Wisconsin primary but would be hurt badly if he sinks as low as fourth in the balloting. "Time is on our side...if we stay alive in Wisconsin," said Salinger, who was press secretary to President John F. Kennedy. "If we finish fourth, we're dead." Both Humphrey and Muskie fielded questions on marijuana from high school students. "I am not for legalizing pot—period," Humphrey said at Milwaukee's Messmer High School. Humphrey said, however, he is for reduced penalties for use of marijuana. Muskie said at Kimberly, he supports the recommendations of the presidential commission which called for elimination of criminal penalties for private use of marijuana. Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington called for establishment of an environmental conservation corps to provide jobs, mainly for young adults.

THE HAPPY WARRIOR again, Sen. Hubert Humphrey edged into first place among Democratic presidential contenders in post-Florida polls.

Wallace Says Campaign to Help Party

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — George Wallace rolled into Tennessee Wednesday and reasserted that his candidacy for president will both help and alter the platform of the Democratic party. The Alabama governor addressed a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature in kicking off his campaign for the state's May 4 Democratic primary. Wallace was second behind Richard Nixon in Tennessee in the 1968 presidential election when he ran under the American-Independent party banner. "My campaign won't hurt the Democratic party," he said, "It will help it." "This campaign is helping the Democratic party to understand what the average man wants," said Wallace. And, he said, he expects it to affect the platforms of both parties. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, also trying for the Democratic nod, accused Wallace last Monday of "serving the big guy" and neglecting the average American working man. Aides to Wallace said he would return to Tennessee at least once before its primary. Five Wallace rallies are planned throughout the state in the next five weeks. Wallace also said he will disclose a list of persons contributing to his campaign Friday in Wisconsin. Wallace came to Nashville from Wisconsin, where he is stumping for that state's primary April 4. Besides Wallace, only Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., has not divulged his campaign contributions. Jackson has refused to do so. The governor was well received by a packed statehouse audience which applauded him 11 times during his 20-minute address. But six black lawmakers in the legislature did not join the applause and Sen. Avon Williams, a black Democrat and civil rights lawyer from Nashville, called the speech "a very negative one which appealed to the worst instincts."

Commune Deaths Bring Charges

HOHENWALD, Tenn. (AP) — Three members of a Lewis County commune have been charged with second-degree murder in the death Tuesday night of a 23-year-old woman commune member. Those charged are Mark Schlichting, 24, of Oakland, Calif.; Robert Power, 24, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Thomas Dickerson, 22, of Radford, Va. They were released on $10,000 bond each. Andrew Earl, an agent of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, said witnesses told him Wednesday that Judith Kowler of Forest Hills, N.Y. died after commune members tried to restrain her during a convulsion. They later found she had suffocated under a blanket. An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death was being performed late Wednesday night, Earl said. The commune, on a 1,000-acre farm, has about 450 members and describes itself as a religious oriented community.

Nursing Homes to Apply Direct

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas nursing home vendors were told here Wednesday by Dalton Jennings, state commissioner of Social Services, they would have to apply directly to the federal pay board to receive a state-approved 6 per cent increase in vendor payments. Nursing home vendors are those operators who receive payments from the state for care of welfare patients. Not all nursing homes receive the payments. In a speech to the annual convention of the Arkansas Nursing Home Association, Jennings said he was irritated at the pay board's refusal to accept the blanket report concerning the proposed increase. The report concerned an average 60-bed nursing home during a 12-month period and reflected wage and price increases and required staffing increases. The study did not include the cost of food, taxes and utilities as the basis for increased payments. Jennings said he reported the findings of the study to the Internal Revenue Service, which he said did not consider the data as ample justification for approved increases. He said he sent copies of the refusal to the Arkansas congressional delegation. Jennings said the vendors were justified in gaining the increases. The commissioner also said vendors soon would be required to meet standards of the 1967 safety code. He said cost of compliance with the regulations would be "significant" in some instances, and he recommended they budget funds with this in mind. He said the state Health Department would be making safety inspections soon and that homes would be advised of deficiencies. Jennings said nursing homes no longer were in the category of the county poor house and were providing a vital service in a new society that has a lack of things for the elderly to do. A POINTED FIND READING, England (AP) — A 2,000-year-old Celtic sword found by a skin diver in the river Thames has been described by a museum expert in Berkshire as "a very exciting discovery." The three-foot-long sword "is exceptionally beautiful and was probably owned by an aristocratic Celtic warrior," said an official at Reading Museum.

Clean Water Bill Gets Approval

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given quick approval to a $24.6-billion clean-water bill designed to purify the nation's rivers, streams and lakes. Following Wednesday's 378-14 vote, the chief sponsor, Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., said a House-Senate conference will go to work to hammer out a compromise after the Easter recess. But major differences between the House version and the Senate bill passed last November are expected to delay agreement for weeks. The House version calls for the federal government to spend $18.3 billion during the fiscal years 1973-75 to help communities finance construction of sewage-treatment works and sewage-collection systems. The Senate bill authorizes total construction grants of only $14 billion. None of the Senate money is earmarked for sewage-collection systems. The Senate also called for industries to utilize by 1981 the best available technology to treat wastes discharged into waterways. The House, by comparison, calls on the National Academy of Sciences to complete within two years a cost study to determine if the 1981 requirement would be economically disruptive. If it is found economically feasible, Congress would set the 1981 deadline. The Senate also gave industries until 1985 to eliminate discharges into waterways. The House merely cited the 1985 no-discharge deadline as a national goal and not government policy. Another significant difference is abolition of the 1899 Refuse Act permit system under the
